Latin America's lively jazz scene has been influenced since the early 20th century by European migrants and local rhythms, adding nuances to its African roots. Famous singers and musicians such as Tom Jobim, Lalo Schifrin, Egberto Gismonti, Gato Barbieri and Astor Piazzolla have been influenced by jazz and have contributed to the Latin American soundscape.

In our first series of Latin Jazzy Club, we'll enjoy the best jazz Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Aires have to offer.
